Owner Michael Pan and store manager Luke Cameron opened the doors to their well-stocked gaming haunt a few months ago to provide who play a range of tabletop battle games, card and board games and even role-playing activity.

"Our aim is to provide a friendly, welcoming environment where people can come and enjoy their hobbies, play against like-minded gamers," Mr Cameron said.

He said the store was born of frustration at a lack of suitable venues for role-playing games and collectable card games.

"Most people played at someone's home, but that has its limits, and we realised there was a huge opportunity we could fill by offering a
